Listening to Industry Session:

Current Industry Challenges regarding Covid-19 Impact on the U.S. Marine Transportation System

Wednesday, January 13, 2021

2:00-3:30 PM EST

The U.S. Committee on the Marine Transportation System (CMTS) COVID-19 Working Group (C-19 WG) is hosting this virtual Industry Listening Session to directly hear from all segments of the maritime industry regarding issues and impacts on maritime operations and the workforce resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic. The C-19 WG invites maritime industry stakeholders to articulate their current unresolved concerns and any recommendations for further action by the C-19 federal interagency working group to address ongoing industry challenges.

The C-19 WG serves as the CMTS forum for facilitating high-level interagency discussion, communication, and actions in support of the MTS under and after COVID-19. Please refer to https://www.cmts.gov/topics/working_group for the current C-19 WG activities and resources developed for the MTS.

MTS stakeholders who intend to speak at this session are requested to email C19WG@cmts.gov by January 11 so that the C-19 WG can arrange an equitable speaking opportunity for interested speakers from all maritime industry segments and the public. Please note that this Listening Session is intended for the C-19 WG members to directly hear stakeholder input without engaging in a dialog.
